Konnichiwa minna-san! How nice to meet all of you again. The autumn season is almost coming to the end for this year. It is such a nice experience seeing beautiful sceneries in Tsukuba Daigaku where the leaves changes its color and fall, the weather is getting colder and people start changing their style of clothing for proper weather protection and adapting to the surrounding.

There was an event known as School Festival organized by Tsukuba Daigaku in early November. In order to introduce this 'daigaku' to high school students and build up good connection with people nearby, the event was held for three days from November 1st, 2nd and 3rd 2014. This festival was really important especially to high school students where some laboratories responsibly in presenting their related studies so as to create awareness, to give them insight and help them to focus on their future studies. Besides that, the students also presented cultural performances on the stage and the festival was very colorful with 'hanabi' during the opening and closing event. The local and foreign students also sold their famous dishes such as 'nasi lemak', 'roti jala', 'kebab', 'takoyaki', 'tempura' and ice-cream. That's all for now, we shall meet again in the next article. Bye.
