Best Opportunity!

Assalamualaikum and good day everyone. My greatest thanks to Prof. Yasuhisa Adachi, Assoc. Dr. Kobayashi and fellow lab mates, for having me in Colloid Laboratory (2D119) for 6 months. Every international student has a tutor from the same laboratory to assist the new students in life and even in studies. It is very important for the international students to learn the Japan culture, especially for the students who do not have basic in Japan language. In my case, my tutor, Atsushi Yamaguchi, is an undergraduate student under Assoc. Dr. Kobayashi, so he sometimes became my translator. Very much thanks to him and all lab mates for the help during the period!

By the time I arrived at University of Tsukuba (UT), Colloidal Laboratory was busy handled a conference on Colloidal and Interface in Bio-resources and Environment under Tsukuba Global Science Week 2014 (TGSW) programmed. The participants were from lecturers and students of Colloidal Laboratory of UT and from other university as well. Special guests from Moscow State University; Prof Alexander Yaroslavov and Prof Alexander Zezin, also gave some presentations on their current projects. I was also invited to be the participant as the guest from Malaysia-Japan International Institute of Technology (MJIT). The programmed was incredible as we can share the knowledge with other researchers and create an opportunity for collaboration. After the programmed ended, we have a research tour the nearby university and historic places in Tsukuba city.
